

The PENTA Building Group Promotes Glen Maxwell to Senior Vice President of Preconstruction

LAS VEGAS (November 12, 2019) – The PENTA Building Group announced the recent promotion of Glen Maxwell to Senior Vice President of Preconstruction. With more than 25 years of experience in the construction industry, Glen will continue to develop PENTA's Preconstruction capabilities and services, positioning the firm for continued growth.

"The preconstruction department is vital to PENTA and our continued advancement - Glen has been instrumental in taking this department to the next level," said John Cannito, President of The PENTA Building Group.

In his expanded role, Glen is responsible for guiding PENTA's work acquisition and preconstruction services in Nevada, Southern California and Arizona. He guides preconstruction teams to ensure the department is developing client-centric strategies to secure new work. Equally critical is his responsibility to ensure PENTA competently leads projects from design into construction knowledgeably and economically.

"Every one of PENTA's clients expects intelligent feedback on cost and specific strategies to reduce their development risk," said Glen. "We must be relentlessly passionate in adopting each client's goals to be a valuable partner repeatedly".

Glen joined the firm in 2002 and served as a Sr. Project Manager before transitioning into the preconstruction department. He has since worked on projects spanning PENTA's markets across the southwest United States, including The Metropolis Residential Tower in downtown Los Angeles, T-Mobile Arena in Las Vegas and Desert Diamond West Valley Resort in Glendale, Arizona.

Glen holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Mechanical Engineering from the University of California San Diego and earned a Master's degree in Civil and Environmental Engineering from the University of Nevada, Las Vegas.

In keeping with PENTA's culture, Glen is an active supporter of community engagement and an outspoken advocate for small construction businesses. He serves on the Las Vegas AGC Diversity and Inclusion Steering Committee, which provides growth resources to diverse construction companies. He is also an executive member of The PENTA CARES Foundation, which drives the firm's philanthropic initiatives.
